FIGHT INDICTMENT OF NAN PATTERSON

Grand Jury Returns a True Bill Charging Her with the Murder of Young, but Her Lawyers Will Ask the Court to Dismiss It.

Actress Is Taken Ill in Coroner's Court -Only Perfunctory Proceedings To-Day at the Inquest - Woman Will Be Arraigned to Plead To-Morrow.

An indictment charging Nan Patterson with the murder of Caesar Young, the bookmaker, was returned to-day.

It was found last Friday after counsel for the girl had refused to allow her to go before the Grand Jury and explain what happened in the hansom cab in which Young came to his death, but was not signed at that time. As soon as the indictment had been handed down Assistant District-Attorney Rand went into Coroner Brown's court and announced that he was ready to go on with the inquest. The Patterson girl was in court, pale and ill. She had just suffered an acute attack of nausea.

"Inasmuch as an indictment has been found against this woman charging her with murder in the first degree," said the Assistant District-Attorney, "this inquest will be merely a formal establishment of the death of Young by shooting and not an inquiry into her connection with his death. Under these circumstances it will not be necessary for her to remain in the
